

JOACHIM H. TALLOEN
Department of Social and Decision Sciences
Tepper School of Business (Economics)
Carnegie Mellon University
jtalloen@cmu.edu
Homepage

EDUCATION Ph.D. Candidate in Behavioral Economics, Carnegie Mellon University, 2015 - Present.
B.A. Economics (w/ High Honors), Psychology, Rutgers University, May 2015.

RESEARCH
INTERESTS Behavioral Economics, Judgment and Decision Making

GRANTS &
HONORS * “Autonomy and Behavioral Risk Preferences,” NSF SES-1851702, 05/01/19 – 8/31/21, $283,187.
* Presidential Fellowship 2015-2020
* Phi Beta Kappa
* Henry Rutgers Award
* Charles Flaherty Award
* Alpha-Paul V. Maggio Scholarship Excellence Award
* Dorothy and David Cooper Research Fellowship

WORK IN PROGRESS “The Effects of Price Level Graphs: Over-trading, Diversification, and the Disposition Effect”

“Autonomy and Behavioral Risk Preferences” (with Gretchen Chapman)

“Absolute versus Relative Price Movements, Epistemic versus Aleatory Uncertainty, and their Impact on Stock Price Predictions” (with Craig Fox, Alex Imas and David Tannenbaum)

PUBLICATIONS “The Fun and Function of Uncertainty: Uncertain Incentives Reinforce Repetition Decisions” (with Christopher K. Hsee and Luxi Shen), Journal of Consumer Research, 2019, 46(1): 69-81.

PRESENTATIONS 2018

UPenn-CMU Roybal Center Retreat; Skytop, Pennsylvania.

2016

Economic Science Association; Tuscon, Arizona.

Behavioral Decision Research in Management; Toronto, Ontario.

2014

Society for Judgement and Decision Making; Long Beach, California.

TEACHING ASSISTANT Causal Inference in the Field (Undergraduate), Spring 2019.
Behavioral Economics of Poverty and Development (Undergraduate), Spring 2018.
Behavioral Economics (Undergraduate), Fall 2017, Fall 2018.
Experimental Research Methods (Undergraduate), Fall 2016.

PERSONAL Citizenship: Belgium.
Languages: English (fluent), Dutch (native), German (fluent), French (proficient).

REFERENCES Alex Imas
Carnegie Mellon University
aimas@andrew.cmu.edu
(224) 392-3669

George Loewenstein
Carnegie Mellon University
gl20@andrew.cmu.edu
(412) 268-8787

Gretchen Chapman
Carnegie Mellon University
gchapman@andrew.cmu.edu
(412) 268-7380